To Our Valued Customers,

As the world continues to identify and understand the effects of COVID-19, please remember Wilson Tool International is committed to supporting your business during this pandemic and will continue to provide continuity of service.

We are Open and Here for You
We recognize that in this time of crisis that it is as important to us as it is to you, that you do not face disruptions in your manufacturing process. Now, more than ever, manufacturers are faced with a need to address and respond to more unique and uncharted demands. We want you to know that at this important time, you can count on us to be here to support your business.

Keeping Safe
Wilson Tool is continuously assessing and appropriately responding to the crisis as it evolves. We have put in place many virus-mitigating actions which result in a reduction of potential transmission. Through these and other adjustments, our operations continue to support the safety and health of our employees and the tooling needs of our customers.

Please Help Us Help You
With changes happening at a rapid rate, please contact us if your business is suddenly unable to receive product due to changing business conditions and/or executive orders. This communication will help us make the necessary adjustments on our end, so your product is ready for you when needed. Our goal is to ensure you are able to order and receive the tooling you need to be the most successful manufacturers in the world.

While we recognize conditions may get worse before getting better, we will do all that is possible to keep you, our essential customer, up and running.

Best Regards,

Chris Lawless
